CLEARWATER KENNEL CLUB, INC CODE OF ETHICS

Inasmuch as the members of the CKC admittedly have more than a passing interest in purebred dogs, they accept the many responsibilities that accompany the privilege of ownership. Among these responsibilities is the willingness to:

1. Maintain all dogs in their care in a clean and healthy environment.
2. Provide quality medical care.
3. Serve as a reliable source of breed information.
4. Be familiar with the standard of one's breed(s) and with the basic laws of genetics.
5. Provide buyers with an evaluation of their dogs according to the official breed standard.
6. Use for breeding only registered adults which are of sound temperament and free from disqualifying faults and disabling defects.
7. Recognize that there is an obligation to these animals so produced and to be willing to take them back should they not fit into their new environment, making an intelligent decision to do what is best for the animal.
8. Never knowingly consign animals so produced to pet stores, wholesale establishments or raffles.
9. Maintain all records in accordance with the AKC requirements.
10. Strive to display good sportsmanship in all matters.
